Tweet: A @pewresearch analysis finds that the US foreign-born population reached a record 46.1mm in 2022, or 13.8% of the population, still under the 1890 peak of 14.8%. 49% of immigrants are naturalized citizens, while 28% have permanent or temporary permits.

Summary: The U.S. foreign-born population reached a record 46.1 million in 2022. Growth accelerated after Congress made U.S. immigration laws more permissive in 1965. Immigrants today account for 13.8% of the U.S. population. This is a roughly threefold increase from 4.7% in 1970. However, the immigrant share of the population today remains below the record 14.8% in 1890. Mexico is the top country of birth for U.S. immigrants. In 2022, roughly 10.6 million immigrants living in the U.S. were born there, making up 23% of all U.S. immigrants. The next largest origin groups were those from India (6%), China (5%), the Philippines (4%) and El Salvador (3%). From 1990 to 2007, the unauthorized immigrant population more than tripled in size, from 3.5 million to a record high of 12.2 million. From there, the number slowly declined to about 10.2 million in 2019. In 2022, the number of unauthorized immigrants in the U.S. showed sustained growth for the first time since 2007, to 11mm. As of 2022: 49% were naturalized U.S. citizens, 24% were lawful permanent residents, 4% were legal temporary residents, and 23% were unauthorized immigrants.
