

Macro Roundup Article

Headline: What America's Relocation Boom Means for Election 2024

Article Link: <https://www.bloomberg.com/graphics/2024-election-swing-state-voting-demographics/?sref=U3dOGIDF>

Author(s)	Shawn Donnan
Publication	Bloomberg
Publication Date	January 12, 2024

Tweet: Between election day 2020 and 2024 30mm Americans will have moved to a different state. A Bloomberg analysis of swing states found that Biden 2020 counties will see population gains almost twice as large as Trump counties by election day this year.

Summary: 16.1 million US residents who moved to another state in 2021 and 2022 combined, according to Census Bureau estimates. A Bloomberg analysis of state population forecasts found swing-state counties that Biden won in 2020 will have on net gained almost twice as many people by election day as those that voted for Trump. In Georgia, where Biden beat Trump by fewer than 12,000 votes in 2020, the population will have grown by almost 395,000, according to state forecasts. State forecasts show Maricopa County, Arizona, which Biden won narrowly and where 2 million ballots were cast in 2020, will have 337,000 more residents on election day 2024. Biden's razor-thin 2020 margin there suggests that capitalizing on that growth may not be as easy as in Wisconsin, Georgia or Nevada. The relocation boom is not a tailwind for Biden everywhere. In North Carolina, the growth in red counties appears to have more than offset the rapid growth in the Raleigh-Durham metro area's blue suburbs, according to state forecasts. Related: Trump's Electoral College Edge Seems to Be Fading and Young Families Have Not Returned to Large Cities Post-Pandemic and Tax Data Reveals Large Flight of High Earners from Major Cities During the Pandemic

Primary Topic: Politics

Topics: Demographics, News article, Politics, Workforce

Permalink: <https://www.edwardconard.com/macro-roundup/between-election-day-2020-and-2024-30mm-americans-will-have-moved-to-a-different-state-a-bloomberg-analysis-of-swing-states-found-that-biden-2020-counties-will-see-population-gains-almost-twice-as-l?view=detail>

Featured Image Link: <https://www.edwardconard.com/wp-content/uploads/2024/01/Swing-State-Projected-county-population-growth.png>