

Macro Roundup Article

Headline: China's Curb On Metal Exports Reverberates Across Chip Sector

Article Link: <https://www.ft.com/content/2fa865a7-176f-4292-8842-38bb6470d732>

Author(s)	FT Staff
Publication	Financial Times
Publication Date	July 05, 2023

Tweet: China is retaliating against Western export controls by restricting exports of rare earth metals that are essential to chipmaking. @FT

Summary: Trade officials were assessing the fallout from the latest escalation in the US-China technology battle after Beijing said it would impose curbs on exports of metals used in chipmaking. Gallium and germanium are among dozens of minerals classified by the US government as critical to economic and national security. The US state department did not respond to a request for comment. Related: The U.S.-China Rare Earths Battle

Primary Topic: China

Topics: China, Database, GDP, News article, Trade (not deficits)

Permalink: <https://www.edwardconard.com/macro-roundup/china-is-retaliating-against-western-export-controls-by-restricting-exports-of-rare-earth-metals-that-are-essential-to-chipmaking-ft?view=detail>

Featured Image

Link: <https://www.edwardconard.com/wp-content/uploads/2023/07/China-Export-Controls.png>