Tweet: The UAW and Ford have a tentative deal that will see a 25% hourly wage increase over 4 years; including cost-of-living allowances, the rate will increase by 33%. Ford's labor costs will rise by $900mm in the first year of the deal.

Summary: The United Auto Workers reached a tentative labor agreement with Ford Motor Co., putting pressure on the carmaker's two chief rivals to end a protracted strike that has cost the industry billions of dollars. Ford agreed to a record 25% hourly wage hike over the life of the contract, which exceeds four years. With cost-of-living allowances, the top wage rate is expected to increase by 33%. The top pay will be over $40 an hour, the union said.
