

Macro Roundup Article

Headline: Financial Fragmentation

Article Link: <https://theovershoot.co/p/financial-fragmentation>

Author(s)	Matt Klein
Publication	The Overshoot
Publication Date	June 28, 2023

Tweet: International financial transactions among the US, China and Euro Area are smaller relative to their combined output than at any point other than the trough of the financial crisis. @M_C_Klein

Summary: Americans, Chinese, and Europeans have curtailed their lending and investing abroad—while also selling commensurately fewer financial claims to foreigners. In 2021, the gross value of cross-border financial transactions involving the U.S., China, and the euro area was worth about $7.9 trillion. In 2022, that figure was just $2.8 trillion. U.S. data for the first three months of this year suggest that cross-border transactions volumes have continued to shrink. International financial transactions involving the world's three largest economies are smaller relative to their combined output than at any point other than the trough of the financial crisis.

Primary Topic: Investment

Topics: Financial Markets, GDP, Investment, Op-Ed/Blog Post, Productivity, Weekly

Permalink: https://www.edwardconard.com/macro-roundup/international-financial-transactions-among-the-us-china-and-euro-area-are-smaller-relative-to-their-combined-output-then-at-any-point-other-than-the-trough-of-the-financial-crisis-m_c_klein?view=detail

Featured Image

Link: <https://www.edwardconard.com/wp-content/uploads/2023/06/Receding-Wave-.jpg>