

Macro Roundup Article

Headline: What Should the 2023 Washington Consensus Be?

Article Link: <https://www.piie.com/events/what-should-2023-washington-consensus-be>

Author(s)	Larry Summers
Publication	Peterson Institute for International Economics
Publication Date	September 28, 2023

Tweet: @LHSummers issues a warning that America's fiscal trajectory is leaving it little slack for meeting contingencies, "military or non-military."

Summary: I would suggest that substantial and accumulating deficits and debts are a substantial threat to national security and national power. A reasonable calculation would suggest that our budget prospects are vastly worse than they were at the time of the Clinton administration's successful budget actions and substantially worse than they were at the time of the Simpson-Bowles efforts. The budget deficits a decade out comfortably in double digits as a share of GDP now seem a reasonable projection with primary deficits quite likely in the 5% of GDP range. This is without the assumption of the need for vast mobilization for meeting contingencies, military or non-military. And I think it is reasonable to ask the question. How long can or will the world's greatest debtor be able to maintain its position as the world's greatest power?

Related Articles: Summers and Blanchard Debate the Future of Interest Rates and Interest Rates Hit 16-Year Record and Is a U.S. Debt Crisis Looming? Is it Even Possible?

Primary Topic: Fiscal Deficits

Topics: Database, Fiscal Deficits, Fiscal Policy, Op-Ed/Blog Post, Quote, Weekly

Permalink: <https://www.edwardconard.com/macro-roundup/lhsummers-issues-a-warning-that-americas-fiscal-trajectory-is-leaving-it-little-slack-for-meeting-contingencies-military-or-non-military?view=detail>

Featured Image Link: <https://www.edwardconard.com/wp-content/uploads/2023/09/Larry-.png>