

Macro Roundup Article

Headline: Apple to Start Making MacBooks in Vietnam by mid-2023

Article Link: <https://asia.nikkei.com/Spotlight/Supply-Chain/Apple-to-start-making-MacBooks-in-Vietnam-by-mid-2023>

Author(s)	Cheng Ting-Fang
Publication	Nikkei Asia
Publication Date	December 20, 2022

Tweet: Apple will start MacBook production in Vietnam this spring as the company seeks to complete an "out of China" option for all major products. @NikkeiAsia

Summary: Apple plans to move some MacBook production to Vietnam for the first time next year as the U.S. tech group continues diversifying its production base away from China amid escalating tech tensions between Washington and Beijing. Apple has tapped its top supplier, Taiwan's Foxconn, to start making MacBooks in the Southeast Asian nation as early as around May, sources briefed on the matter said. Apple has been working to add production sites outside of China for all of its major product lines, but doing so for the final one, the MacBook has taken longer due to the complex supply chain needed for making laptop computers. "After the MacBook production shifts, all of Apple's flagship products basically will have one more production location beyond China ... iPhones in India and MacBooks, the Apple Watch and iPads in Vietnam," one person with direct knowledge of the matter told Nikkei Asia. "What Apple wants now is an 'out of China' option for at least part of production for all of its products."

Primary Topic: Trade (not deficits)

Topics: China, GDP, News article, Sell-by Date, Trade (not deficits)

Permalink: <https://www.edwardconard.com/macro-roundup/apple-will-start-macbook-production-in-vietnam-this-spring-as-the-company-seeks-to-complete-an-out-of-china-option-for-all-major-products-nikkeiasia?view=detail>