

Macro Roundup Article

Headline: If Everyone Voted, Would Biden Benefit? Not Anymore

Article Link: <https://www.nytimes.com/2024/06/15/upshot/election-democrats-republicans-turnout-trump.html>

Author(s)	Nate Cohn
Publication	New York Times
Publication Date	June 17, 2024

Tweet: According to recent New York Times/Siena College polling Trump leads Biden by 14pp with respondents with no voting history; the least frequent voters being the most Republican is a new pattern in 2024. @Nate_Cohn

Summary: With five months to go until the election, there's still time for less engaged voters to tune in and swing back toward Mr. Biden. Many infrequent voters aren't yet tuned into the race, and their preferences appear highly volatile. If the polls are right, they've swung 20 percentage points since 2020, but some changed their answers when re-interviewed in the wake of Mr. Trump's felony conviction in New York. Even if Mr. Trump holds his edge among the disengaged, it's not clear many of these low-turnout voters will ultimately show up to vote. But if they do vote, Mr. Trump would stand to gain — something unimaginable for a Republican as recently as a few years ago. In Pennsylvania, where Democrats enacted automatic voter registration last year, new registrants have affiliated with Republicans over Democrats by six percentage points.

Related Articles: The Shaky Foundation of Trump's Lead: Disengaged Voters and Small Shift Toward Biden After Trump Verdict and The New Hispanic Diploma Divide

Primary Topic: Politics

Topics: Op-Ed/Blog Post, Politics

Permalink: <https://www.edwardconard.com/macro-roundup/according-to-recent-new-york-times-siena-college-polling-trump-leads-biden-by-14pp-with-respondents-with-no-voting-history-the-least-frequent-voters-being-the-most-republican-is-a-new-pattern-in-2024?view=detail>

Featured Image Link: <https://www.edwardconard.com/wp-content/uploads/2024/06/21309-if-everyone-voted-would-biden-benefit-not-anymore-featured-thumbnail-image.png>