Tweet: According to Gallup data, the share of young men who identified with or leaned toward the Democratic Party has fallen from 51% in 2016 to 39% in 2023. @dcoxpolls

Summary: In less than a decade, the number of young men who identify as Democrats dropped significantly. As recently as 2016, more than half of young men (51%) identified with or leaned toward the Democratic Party. By 2023, less than four in ten (39%) young men identified as Democrats. Young women retained a stronger allegiance to the Democratic Party, perhaps in part due to their strong aversion to Trump, but in the last couple of years, this strong Democratic commitment appears to have faltered.
